

WAR MAY CUT THE INTEREST RATE IN U. S.

Federal Reserve Board Tries to Light on Financial Situation in America

Explains the New System

European Money Will Be Scarce in This Country, Says Circular

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The scope of the operations of the 12 federal reserve banks to be opened for business next Wednesday was defined for the first few months of their existence in a circular issued today by the federal reserve board. For the present the banks will not exercise all the functions given them by congress. The board, concurring with the directors and governors of the 12 banks in recent conferences here, endorsed this plan of operations.

Acceptance of deposits of reserves from member banks.

Discount of bills of exchange and commercial paper.

Acceptance of deposits of checks drawn by member banks on any reserve bank or member bank in a reserve or central reserve city within their federal reserve districts.

Other powers may be called into play as the establishment of safe and efficient organization permits.

In its circular the board gave the long-expected definition of commercial paper, which is to be the life of the new system, the basis for the new federal reserve currency and the means by which the nation's circulating medium is expected to meet the expansions and contractions of trade and industry.

The rate of rediscount was not announced. This step probably will not be taken until Monday. The rate will not be uniform in all the banks.

Definition of Commercial Paper.

The definition of commercial paper is broad, and relies to a large degree upon the language of the currency act. The board declined at present to discuss the question of double and single-name commercial paper. It did make it exceedingly clear, however, that it had a preference for the two-name sort and left no room for the authorities of the banks to doubt that it expected careful inquiry into one-name paper presented to them for rediscount.

The circular discussed the conditions that have arisen here and throughout the world through the war and gave some insight into the economic changes which might be expected as a result.

It should be borne in mind, it said, that although exports are showing a startling increase there is still a large and increasing demand for European goods, which gold may be demanded and that a large quantity of American securities held abroad may be returned to the United States, while on the other hand more than $100,000,000 of emergency currency must be gradually retired. No one can estimate the duration of the war or predict what will be the financial or commercial conditions when peace shall be restored.

European Money Will Be Scarce.

Our industrial development has been greatly facilitated by foreign capital and we have been accustomed to borrow large sums annually in Europe and to sell American securities here which attracted foreigners because of their higher rate of return compared with European investments. It is probable that at the end of the war interest rates in Europe will be higher than they have been in the past and greater investment returns will be yielded. The tremendous destruction of property and waste of capital will not only check the flow of European savings to the United States, but may dispose foreign investors to return the securities they own held. Lower money rates in this country would be likely to accentuate this to a large extent, while on the other hand higher interest rates and larger investment returns on our side would pick it up.

The function of the federal reserve banks is therefore of a twofold character. They should extend credit facilities particularly where the normal conditions now prevailing are (a) credit emergencies demanding a commutation and, on the other hand they must protect the soundness of this credit in order that such loans may remain available to meet demands that may be made upon them. While credit facilities should be liberally extended in up parts of the country it would appear advisable to proceed with caution in districts not in need of immediate relief and to await the effect of the release of reserves and of the changes which the credit mechanism of the country is about to experience before establishing a definite discount policy.

While the most acute stage of the recent financial emergency appears to be passed the conditions in other

WESTERN GOVERNORS DENOUNCE TREATMENT PUBLIC LAND STATES

In Conference Demand to Be Allowed to Develop Their Own Resources

MALDEN, Nov. 11.—Western governors today before the governors conference here denounced what they called unfair treatment of public land states by the federal government. Elias M. Ammons, of Colorado, Joseph M. Carey, of Wyoming, and A. C. Eberhart, of Minnesota, seconded the plea of William Spry of Utah that the western states be allowed to develop their resources without interference from Washington.

Governor Ammons, of Colorado, charged that the federal reclamation service under the last three presidents had disobeyed the orders of the nation's chief executive in refusing to allow Colorado to use public lands for building a reservoir. He said the magazine had printed conservation articles full of misstatements and had refused to publish the other side of the question. Some of these magazines writers the governor declared had distorted facts. Among other things they had accused that Rockefeller owned all the coal land in Colorado, whereas he owned only 800 acres out of 472,000 acres of coal land under lease by the state.

Retards Improvement.

Governor Carey condemned the government's policy of withdrawing coal and mineral lands because such action tended to retard development many years. He said that federal attempts to improve such lands were wasteful.

Instead of being liberal with us, Governor Carey said, the government has limited us to the smallest area and this despite the fact that the Rocky mountain states must struggle the hardest for development amid adverse circumstances. There is more good coal in Wyoming than in any other state, yet the government refuses to allow a settler to dig a barrel for his own use. The land should be parceled out among all the people of the state.

Governor Eberhart of Minnesota cited the success of states in coping with public utilities as an evidence of their ability to regulate the development of their own resources. He called on the eastern and southern states to support the demand of the western states for better treatment from the national authorities.

That in Action Next Year.

Governor Stewart of Montana said his belief was that the quicker public lands passed under public ownership the sooner the country would find its full development.

The conference tonight chose Boston for the meeting next year some time between July 1 and September 15. The executive committee was named as follows:

David Walsh of Massachusetts, William Spry of Utah, Luther E. Hall of Louisiana, John Franklin Fort of New Jersey was elected treasurer and Miles C. Riley of Madison, Wis. secretary.

Family Starving, Shoots Employer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11.—Rarely has the taking of a human life aroused such sympathy for the slayer as in the case of Joseph Lococo, who shot and killed George Gray of the contracting firm of Gray Brothers, in Mission street yesterday because his family was starving and he could not collect wages due him.

Subscriptions for Lococo's family began pouring into the newspapers today and one daily opened a bureau for the handling of these funds. Another newspaper employed a battery of attorneys to defend Lococo. Police men rated a fund among themselves and sent it to the slayer's wife and family.

Lococo's defense as outlined in the police court today will be that he was maddened by hunger and worry over the suffering of his wife and two children and that when he fired upon Gray he believed the latter was about to strike him.

Los Angeles Nov. 11.—Newspapers here received a number of contributions for the family of Joseph Lococo who killed George Gray in San Francisco yesterday. A visiting Ocala home banker circulated a subscription list and made up a purse which was sent to Mrs. Lococo direct. Other sums were forwarded to San Francisco newspapers.

Mourn Son Dead: Get Message Saying He's Alive.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 11.—With preparations complete for the funeral of their son Robert, who was reported killed last week in a wreck near Springfield, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. William Bollin of this city tonight received a message from Fort Worth, Tex., signed with his name and stating that he was in good health.

Members of the family had gathered here to attend the funeral tomorrow. The body of a wreck victim supposed to have been that of Robert Bollin is expected to arrive here tonight.

AID FOR DEAF IN EUROPE IS ASKED BY G. W. VEDTZ

ROCKEFELLER FOUNDATION ASKED FOR $10,000

Springs Man, National Leader, Says Afflicted Are in Need of Help

A nationwide appeal to the deaf in America for aid to the cause of the deaf mutes in France and Belgium whose cause is doubly hard has been issued by George W. Vedtz of Colorado Springs, one of the most prominent deaf workers in the United States and editor of The Silent Courier, a national deaf newspaper.

Vedtz, who lives at 414 North Custer street, was asked that December 10, Gallaudet day be set aside as a day of universal giving for the stricken deaf in Europe. He also has written to the Rockefeller foundation, which recently sent relief to starving Belgium, asking for $10,000 to aid the deaf. The letter to the Rockefeller foundation reads as follows:

Mr. Jerome D. Greene, Secretary, The Rockefeller Foundation, 26 Broadway, New York City.

Dear Sir: An appeal has just come to America to help the deaf mutes of France and Belgium, rendered destitute by the war.

Their destitution renders their lot doubly hard. They need help in double measure. The deaf of America are responding to the extent of their ability, but more help will be needed.

Can not the Rockefeller foundation set aside the sum of $10,000 to be applied to this purpose? Will you not please confer with Mr. Edwin A. Hodgson, editor of the Silent Courier, Journal, Station M, New York City, who will furnish such references as you may require.

Myself I add that Mr. John D. Rockefeller is personally interested in the deaf. The members of the national association were his guests at Forest Hill during their convention last year. I am enclosing a cut of Mr. Rockefeller and his guests. I am sure to believe that Mr. Rockefeller would cordially endorse the appeal herein conveyed.

Will you not please give this suggestion your earnest consideration? No similar amount out of the great sum which I understand the Rockefeller foundation is applying to the relief of those rendered destitute by the war can possibly do greater good than a smaller sum the foundation might

Water Department to Support Itself

For the first time in the history of Colorado Springs the water department of the city will be absolutely self-supporting in 1915. This announcement was made yesterday by Mayor C. L. McKesson, who is busily engaged in preparing the budget of expenditures for the several departments of the city government and in carrying out his retrenchment policy.

According to Mayor McKesson's plans the expense of operating the water department will be reduced to such an extent that although $55,000 principal on outstanding bonds and $55,000 interest on bonds will be paid, the department will still be run without any appropriation from the general fund. In line with his plan to reduce the tax levy on Colorado Springs next year, Mayor McKesson is putting down the appropriation in practically every department in the city.

The street department is to receive $17,000, which is but 1/2 less than it received last year. However, the street department asked for an appropriation much in excess of this amount. In the engineering department, the appropriation is to be cut from $13,000 to $10,000. This probably will mean that at least one man in that department will be released.

The health department's allowance probably will be reduced by about $800, although this point has not been definitely decided upon. The visiting nurse association will receive the same amount it received this year, which was $400. The Reed Horse company's appropriation is to be reduced from $200 to $150.

Cut Police Force.

Under the mayor's present plans $7,000 is to be paid on outstanding warrants which were drawn this summer to meet the flood emergency. Out of this fund comes the cost of constructing the two spans of the Bridge, the repairing of the Huerta street viaduct and the repairing of other damage done by the flood.

In the department of public safety the appropriation probably will be reduced to such an extent that it will be necessary to cut down the force in the police department. Motor apparatus has been purchased by the fire department, which will cut down the expense of operation of that department, and it will not be necessary to reduce the force of firemen.

INCOME TAX DOGGER TO HAVE HARD TIME BEATING GOVERNMENT

Plans Being Laid to Collect All Money Due Uncle Sam From Levy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Officials of the treasury department are seeking to lay the groundwork for a vigorous and nationwide campaign for the collection of income tax dollars and the collection of unpaid taxes which some authorities believe may amount into millions.

The effort is directed particularly against persons who are stockholders and drawers of dividends from the corporations of the country. There are more than 300,000 corporations doing business in the United States according to returns from the corporation excise law, and if any plan is adopted to institute a thorough search of their list of shareholders and the records of their dividends it will be most exhaustive and may take years. For the present no such plan is likely to be adopted, however, and it is understood to be the hope of officials that the corporations will furnish this information upon request.

Technical Point Involved.

There is some question as to the power of the department to make corporations furnish this information but it has been an unofficial view that in case of refusal, the law gives sufficient authority for the sending of internal revenue agents to make examinations.

Since the first returns from the income tax were totaled there has been no concealment of the fact that treasury officials were disappointed. The tax collected fell many millions below what was expected. The estimates of taxable individuals on which congress framed the law were far in excess from the figures returned by internal revenue collectors. The difference between the returns and estimates was over the $100,000 mark. This was not taken to mean that there were actually many taxables in the country who had evaded the law, but, allowing for a wide margin of miscalculation officials are inclined to credit the belief that there must be a large number of unpaid taxes.

Unpaid Taxes Estimated.

That the unpaid tax of $100,000,000 is withheld by the corporations themselves on such payments as dividends. Probably there has been virtually no violation of the law in this quarter for the aggregate dividends of corporations are far in excess accessible to the internal revenue bureau. The failure to pay are assumed therefore to be among the class of taxables whose incomes are subject to the surtax on more than $20,000 annually.

Aggregate figures of a corporation's dividend payments would not aid in discovering the incomes of individuals and about the only method left to get a check upon them is through lists of stockholders and actual dividend payments to them.

The scope of such a task has been the subject of comment among those who have heard this plan broached. It has been pointed out that corporations such as the big railroad systems of the country, the United States Steel corporation and others have outstanding thousands of shares of stock, spread among thousands of shareholders. The physical labor of transcribing lists from these corporations, in case they are not voluntarily given, probably would be enormous and the expense might be great.

BRONX COURT HOUSE WRECKED BY BOMB

Explosion Intended for Judge Who Heard White Slave Cases

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A bomb was exploded alongside the Bronx borough court house last night doing much damage to the building. The shock of the explosion was felt blocks away.

It is the belief of the police that the bomb was intended for Judge Louis D. Gibbs who has presided recently in the case of a number of foreigners convicted on "white slavery" charges. This opinion was also expressed by Judge Gibbs who at the time of the explosion was preparing to leave his chambers in the building in company with his private secretary, Samuel Phillips.

The judge was shaken up by the concussion but escaped injury.

The police said the bomb was of the time-explosive type and was set to go off at about the hour Judge Gibbs usually left his chambers.

Shortly after the bomb had exploded at the court house a second explosion blew in the front of the office of City Marshal John C. Hoefling near by. Hoefling had just left his office. He was not hurt.

CARRANZA AND VILLA FORCES NOW AT WAR

First Battle Has Occurred at Leon, Near Queretaro, Says Report

TAPATA ATTACKING PUERIA

GUATEMEX, Nov. 11.—Hernandez Gutierrez says he will hold office indefinitely; Chief Is Defiant.

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 11.—Hernandez Gutierrez, supported by Gen. Belandier, Alameda and a contingent of 2,000 followers, attacking Puerria, a small town southeast of Mexico City, today to advance beyond high ranks. The attacking party already is in possession of the outskirts of the city, and notwithstanding soldiers sent from the capital to reinforce the Puerria garrison are retreating stubbornly.

War Is Declared.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 11.—War has been declared between the Carranza and Villa elements of the Constitutional army, according to reports received at Juarez tonight from officials of the consulate of chiefs at Aguascalientes.

A preliminary battle already has occurred at Leon, between the constitutional army and Carranza's forces. Gen. Pablo Gonzalez, the Carranza commander, has moved his forces from Queretaro north to Saltillo to meet the Villa advance. Gen. Manuel Chano, a Villa chief, departed today from Aguascalientes with a strong column.

A message from official sources in Mexico City given out today by the federal government said:

The first chief of the Carranza army, of the principal chiefs have declared in favor of Carranza. Villa has called on the people to take arms. All the north and south is loyal to the first chief.

To Hold Office Indefinitely.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 11.—In a last effort to maintain peace, Gen. Venustiano Carranza and Gen. Belandier, territorial president of Mexico, in the Aguascalientes peace convention, exchanged views by telegraph last night. The full text of the message was made public today.

General Gutierrez informed Gen. Carranza that he will hold power indefinitely, disregarding the stipulation limiting his tenure of office to 20 days unless the convention orders otherwise. He calls on General Carranza to stand in the interest of unity and peace, saying that General Villa will do away with his power upon terms imposed by General Carranza's resignation.

Carranza Defiant.

General Carranza in his reply said that he does not recognize the validity of General Gutierrez' election because the convention was not empowered to name a president. He said he never will resign until he is assured that he can turn the power over to some stable government. He warns General Gutierrez that the latter is being used as the tool of General Villa and asks General Gutierrez to meet him at a place to be agreed upon to discuss the question.

The attacks being made by followers of Zapata on the outskirts of the city are growing in intensity, but the constitutional forces are repelling them.

FEDERAL BOARD TO PROBE STRIKE AGAIN

Begin Hearings in Denver on Dec. 1; Conciliators Will Report Saturday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The industrial relations commission will begin an investigation of the Colorado coal strike situation at Denver on December 1, Commissioner Walsh, died upon President Wilson today to talk over the work of the commission. He announced later the date of the new hearings in Colorado, which will be held at the request of business men and others of that state.

The decision to make further inquiry into conditions in Colorado was reached some time ago but it is understood announcement of the time was withheld because it was feared peace negotiations between the striking coal miners and their employers might be adversely affected.

Commissioners Fairbank and Davis of the conciliation commission sent into Colorado by Secretary Wilson of the labor department will arrive here Saturday for a conference with the secretary.

The commission on industrial relations has completed the first of its nationwide investigations. It will hold a number of additional hearings this winter at New York and other big labor centers.

GERMANS RETAKE TOWN OF DIXMUDE ON COAST, BUT AT TERRIBLE COST

Kaiser Concentrating Forces to Smash Allied Lines, Opening Up Way to the Channel

Russians Continue Victorious in Eastern Campaign, Having Won Greater Successes Than Disclosed by Reports; Austrians Get Revenge on the Servians

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Once again the first step in the capture of the North Sea coast of the intense interest in the European war is the region that the Germans are concentrating their forces with the object of smashing through the allied lines to the French ports on the channel.

Already the Germans have gained a momentary point in the recapture of Dixmude. This first of the German standpoint, for it represents good progress. The taking of Dixmude with 200 prisoners, the first of the first line of the allied positions west of Langemark with 2,000 prisoners, the recapture of four country attacks by the British, and the holding of the heights to the north of Arrmentures, and a further advance to the southwest of Lille.

COAST BATTLE FIERCEST

The country between Dixmude and Ypres where the belligerents have been engaged in violent attacks and counter-attacks for weeks past and where the losses have been heavier than those in the battle of the Yser is the scene of a terrible battle, which for the time being is over but equally.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1914.

PROSPERITY EN ROUTE

MORE than a week has passed since the election, and the country has quit talking politics. It devoted less time to the campaign than usual, for the war has been for three months the all-absorbing topic. Throughout the country the newspapers are devoting a great deal of space to discussion of trade conditions and especially to foreign opportunities made possible by the European conflict. Everywhere there is a pronounced tone of optimism as the immense orders pour in from European governments for supplies of every sort. Staples of every kind are in demand, and the orders received from French and British purchasing agents are so big in each case that they will be kept running for weeks to supply them.

Optimism is the watchword throughout the country. Nobody knows, and at this time it is not a matter for worry, what the effect of the war will be on the United States after its close. We only know at this time our exports are jumping up at an amazing rate, and that there is every indication of their continuing to increase in volume and value for a long time to come.

Colorado will inevitably share in their increased prosperity, for the first stimulus given by the war has been to farm products, and Colorado is a great farming state, even if few of the people in Colorado Springs realize the fact. But there are other reasons for expecting a busy and prosperous year in 1915. The two big expositions in California will attract visitors from all over the East, including the thousands who under other conditions would spend their vacations in Europe. Colorado Springs lies on one of the main highways of travel and will get its share of patronage under the stop-over privileges granted by the railroads.

Another incentive to a large tourist business next year is the road-building work now under way. Hundreds of miles of highways have been made accessible to motorists within the last two or three years, and the publicity given the state by the adoption of the half-mile road levy, which provides a new fund of $600,000 annually for road building, will soon be familiar to motor enthusiasts everywhere.

Still another factor in the situation is the adoption of prohibition. Nobody except the thick-and-thin advocate of liquor really believes that the law just adopted really hurts any legitimate interest in a community, for the contrary effect has been demonstrated with absolute thoroughness in prohibition states. Nor does it adversely affect tourist travel, the history of Long Beach and various other dry resorts, both in the West and the East, disproves that contention.

Colorado, like the rest of the country, welcomes a relief from politics. The battle has been fought and settled, and the polls by pluralities which convincingly show the will of the people. The Republican party will soon be in control of the state government, with a majority in the Legislature sufficient to enable it to carry out its program. While it is not the majority that we would have preferred to see in control of the state government, we earnestly hope that it will apply itself with sincerity and intelligence to the huge task of rehabilitating Colorado by such measures as will permanently maintain peace with justice.

FOOD EXPORTS

THE report of the Department of Commerce on food exports in October has not been published, but the report for September shows an amazing increase in the value of the foodstuffs sold abroad, as compared with the same month last year. For instance, shipments of fresh beef amounted to 7,000,000 pounds, or eleven times the total for September, 1913. Exports of canned beef amounted to 3,000,000 pounds in September, or eight times as much as in the same month last year.

American exports of meat, both dressed and on the hoof, have steadily declined throughout the last seven or eight years, owing to the increasing disparity between home demand and supply. Our population is growing at the rate of more than a million a year, but the livestock supply is almost stationary and occasionally shows a decrease. The result is that while ten or fifteen years ago the United States supplied Europe with most of its meat, it now has very little left for export after the home market is cared for.

Under present conditions in Europe there is naturally an extraordinary demand for American foodstuffs of every kind. In September, France placed fresh meat on the free list, and this action was quickly followed by the shipment to France from this country of nearly six and a half million pounds of fresh beef. At first glance these developments appear gratifying, but it is doubtful whether they are of any benefit to the American public. If all this meat were not sold abroad it would be consumed at home, and the inevitable effect of the foreign demand will be higher prices to the American consumer.

It would be a different matter if there was a surplus of meat, but the supply this year is no larger than usual, and it has been further curtailed within the last week by the stringent measures taken to prevent the spread of the foot and mouth disease among cattle. What it really amounts to is that the packers are selling abroad meat needed at home, and the consumer, as usual, pays the increased price.

BOY SCOUTS IN WAR

THE boy scouts in England and on the continent have proved themselves a very real aid in time of stress and are an officially recognized force. While not actively engaged in warfare they are doing scout and guard duty, guiding troops, watching culverts, telephones, bridges, water holes, and making themselves generally invaluable to the nation. General Baden-Powell has produced an efficient force of trained boys from theory, and they are capable of shouldering responsibility and helping in the defense of their country. None of the scouts are armed, and being noncombatants are entitled to the same protection in case of capture as police officers.

The work of organization is going on in this country as well, and while the boys have not had an opportunity to show their efficiency in warfare, they have proved a worthy body in time of peace.

VIRILE PLAY

From the Chicago Tribune.
 Since 1907 the number of American cities that provide equipped and supervised play and recreation centers has increased from 40 to 343. The Recreation Survey of Springfield finds. The number of play leaders and supervisors employed in these cities is 6,315.

The figures showing the growth of the playground idea are indeed gratifying. The results which these playgrounds achieve, being largely of a preventive nature, cannot be measured with sufficient accuracy. We hear about the boy or girl who is brought to the juvenile court charged with a breach of law or order. But we do not hear and we have no way of estimating the number of boys and girls that have been kept from going to the bad by the influence of these play and recreation centers.

There is much work ahead for the playground movement, however; if it is to become an even more vital institution. Thus far the playgrounds seem to have been competing with the agencies that provide wholesome amusement to boys and girls more negatively than positively. It is possible that the growth of play centers has prevented many poolrooms of the undesirable character from springing up. But the play centers should not be satisfied with that. They should make themselves so attractive and interesting as to lure many of the boys who now seek amusement in pool joints. One way to accomplish this is to make the play centers virile enough to attract not only to the boys who are moderate and tractable, but also to the lad who is more or less of a roughneck. It is this class of boys that stands in greatest need of saving. If feminine play surrounded by much red tape will not get their patronage.

OUR BUSINESS

From Life.
 We ought to get into this European war harder. Since it is not proposed that we shall fight in it, we ought to get into the rescue work with more power. Some of us are doing something, but most of us are doing nothing and not enough is being done. Not enough money is coming out for the Belgians, whose terrible plight is so profoundly appealing. Not enough for the Red Cross.
 One trouble is that we have war troubles of our own; that because of upsets due to war, in many lines of business, an unusual proportion of our own people are in more or less pecuniary distress. Another trouble is that when six nations in Europe are spending their utmost energies to kill, what even a large country, 3,000 miles away, can do to save must seem almost trivial. Still, we ought to do more; we ought to do more. No other investment offers such returns as the success of the Belgians, so many of whom, woeiful to tell, are beyond aid already.
 Come, brethren, let us turn out our pockets at once. The special appeal now to us is for the Belgians and the French of northern France; the regions where the war has gone. What terrible cries will come later and from where no one can tell. In Austria there must be great distress, but Austria and East Prussia and Poland are not so near our door as Belgium is. The only safe place for Belgians now is in the sea. It seems to be England, and there they have gone by thousands and are being cared for by the English.

RUSSIA'S HUGE SACRIFICE

From the Kansas City Star.
 The Russian government raises about $120,000,000 of revenue aside from what it gets from railways and crown lands. Of this amount nearly $600,000,000 was taken from the sale of vodka. This vodka revenue has been deliberately sacrificed in the interest of sobriety under the stress of war. A Russian correspondent of the Corn Trade News writes:
 "You will be aware that all sale of spirits is entirely prohibited, with the result that crime is almost nonexistent. Imagine any other nation at war deliberately depriving itself of a profit of over $600,000,000 sterling per annum from the drink sale at such a critical time of financial stress! It is an eloquent testimony to the enormous sacrifices Russia has made since the Japanese war."
 It is an extraordinary thing. Think what it would mean to a rich country like the United States to cut off nearly half of its revenue just at a time when war expenses must force the levying of additional taxes.

This action of the Russian government under the circumstances is the most striking recognition that the world has ever known of the demoralizing effects of drink!

GERMANY'S DESTINY

From the Century.
 Events will soon declare whether Germany is to be shocked into a newer and truer self-realization. This unusual people, a people of efficient teamwork and yet so recumbent of talent, has not, in the away of the Bismarckian empire, been able to break the circle of political intolerance which envelops them. Antiquated election laws, a peculiarly odious caste system, and, above all, the coarse spirit of militarism have stifled the artistic and intellectual aspirations of the patient Teutonic and intellectual. However the fate of battle may ensue, the new Germany will surely come. It will have more, much more, of Bavaria, and less, very much less, of Prussia. It will break the shell of caste, open the magic chambers of opportunity, and allow that upward flow of talent and ambition from the humblest to the mightiest, which is the only purifying current in a nation's life. It will substitute the power of the intellect for the force of the bureaucracy. It will invade the farthest corners of the earth with the rich and varied products of its genius, and return to her high place German art, German music, and German scholarship.

Such a Germany the world needs. And when the superstruggle between Asia and Europe comes, as come it will, no encircling horde of enemies will threaten her, but Europe will gladly follow the lead of the German people into the war of the ages.

ARMIES AREN'T MADE IN A DAY

From the Kansas City Star.
 The attention of the peace advocates who oppose an adequate army and navy is called to this concluding paragraph of Herbert Corey's letter from London in yesterday's Star:

"But under the best conditions it takes six months to make greenhorns into an army good enough to guard bridges. Some officers say that an all green army cannot be made efficient in less than 18 months. The great problem before the war office today is how today's recruits can be made over into tomorrow's soldiers. Fighting isn't a matter of inspiration nowadays. It is a matter of calculation."

And, it takes two years to build a fighting ship.

THOSE STATE DEBTS

From Life.
 Why should a great big state like Pennsylvania owe nothing at all and a little bit of a state like Massachusetts owe $80,000,000? Why should Oregon, away out there on the Pacific coast, owe no dollars per capita, New York $9 per capita, and Massachusetts $23 per capita? Of course questions like these shouldn't be answered hurriedly, but, nevertheless, they have to be answered some time. Two diametrically opposite policies are represented here, and one of them must be better than the other. The better one ought to be adopted by all the good little and big states.

A Hundred and One Per Cent Efficiency

BY RUTH CAMERON

"What though we spill a few grains of corn, or drop a bit of oil from the lamp, these be the price of peace," from a Persian poet.
 Is there not such a thing as being too efficient? Is it not possible to be so anxious to get the full value out of time, money, material, opportunities, etc., that we do not get the full value out of life? I know a woman who is what I call a hundred and one per cent efficient in her use of time. She realizes its value and she cannot bear to waste a moment, and so she is constantly contributing to someone some little task or pleasure into some interval that to the ordinary mind appears too small to contain it. Sometimes she succeeds, and sometimes she doesn't. And still again she succeeds and has to pay a big price for her success.

The other day a group of us were going on a pleasure trip. We gathered at a friend's home. The woman who is one hundred and one per cent efficient was one of the number. While we were waiting for the group to assemble, another woman telephoned that she had been unavoidably delayed and was just starting. The ultra efficient lady took out her watch and noted that it would take our friend 20 minutes to reach us. Her restless mind at once saw a use for that time. "I think I'll run up to the public library for that book," she said. "I'll just have time."

She went. She was delayed. It took her 25 minutes instead of 20. The other woman was picked up by a friend's automobile and reached us in five minutes instead of 20, so six people had to wait 20 minutes in order that one person might save 20. Incidentally we missed a car and made bad connections all the afternoon.

Of course the ultra efficient lady could not foresee that train of events, but that is not the only time her friends have had to pay the price of her ultra efficiency. Moreover I think she herself is paying a steady price for it in nerve strain.

To my mind, thrifty use of money or material may also be carried to an extreme of efficiency that makes it a loss. Of course, when you are limited to certain resources it is a good thing instead of economizing simply by doing without, to make these resources cover a large field. But there comes a point beyond which the effort to utilize every little thing becomes a painful mental strain and that is the time when it is well to stop and see if you can't economize by simplifying and going without.

Training and exercise make a man strong, but there is a point beyond which they make him stale and weak.

There is always a point beyond which the good, by excess, becomes the bad, and that ideal of the Twentieth century, efficiency, is no exception to the

Galicia

Galicia, which has been deemed by fate to become one of the two door-mats of the great European war, is a section of Austria, 30,000 square miles in extent, which is owned by the crown and is being used thereby as a chess protector against Russia. Galicia is smaller than Ohio, but has a population of nearly 8,000,000, divided into nearly equal portions of Poles and Ruthenians, who love each other with all the fervor of Germans and French. There are also 800,000 Jews, who are loved by neither. A local election in Galicia is as exciting as an Orangemen's parade in Dublin.

Galicia is one of the fragments of the late lamented Poland. Up to the year 1772 it led a happy existence fighting the other sections of its own beloved land. Since then it has been owned by Austria and Russia in turn; and it now appears to be Russia's turn.

Galicia is cut off from Hungary by the Carpathian mountains, which also protect it from the warm south winds. If the Russians had had as hard a time getting into Galicia as decent weather does they would still be waiting on the borders. It has no winter resorts or summer resorts and no natural attractions to attract the tourists. Therefore, Galicians have to earn their living, which they do mainly by raising barley, wheat and potatoes and by emigrating to America.

Galicia has had a stormy and sanguinary history and scores of generals with unpronounceable names have swept over its territory reducing the census returns and leaving education in a very backward and depressed condition. Lemberg, whose name is now receiving Russian trimmings, is the capital and metropolis, with 150,000 people and Casow, which wanders mournfully through the history of each European war, is the next largest city with 100,000 people. Unless the Russians have been more disagreeable than usual of late, other prominent cities are Przemysl, Styr, Rzesow, Buczacz, Drohobuz and other shocking mutilations of the English system of spelling. From these names it will be gathered that whatever Russia does to the rest of the country it cannot damage its nomenclature much.

BRITISH INDIAN OFFICERS SUFFER HEAVILY IN FIGHT

LONDON, Nov. 11.—A heavy casualty list of officers of the Indian army, issued by the press bureau today, emphasizes the fierceness of the recent fighting in which the Indian troops have been engaged in West Flanders. The list includes 25 British and eight native officers killed; 13 British and 12 native officers wounded; and three British and three native officers missing.

A further list of casualties to officers of the British army includes six killed and 18 wounded. Among the latter is William G. M. Mox, Marquis of Tinsdale, a lieutenant in the First Life Guards.

GERMANY ASKS AMERICA TO SHIP COAL ON SURPLUS

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—Count-Reventlow, the German naval critic, in an article appearing in the Deutsche Tages Zeitung, invites the United States to send ships laden with cotton to German ports. He declares that there is no effective British blockade of such ports, and insists that the German ports are not menaced by mine. The English would acquiesce, he argues, in the breaking of the North sea blockade, such as it is, by American ships.

DESTRUCTION OF EMDEN REVIVES BAG INDUSTRY

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11.—The destruction of the German cruiser Emden means a revival in the manufacture of bags in America, according to J. S. Bemis, a St. Louis bag manufacturer. In a statement today, he said that the shipment of burlap from the orient to the United States almost entirely ceased after the Emden began its raids on British commerce.

This cutting off of raw material resulted in the reduction of working force in bag factories throughout the United States.

NOVEMBER 12, 1884.
 The trial of Deputy Sheriff Joe Tell for murder was opened in the district court with Judge Goddard on the bench. Tell had killed a man some months previously, ostensibly in the discharge of his duty.

Every room at the Antlers had been occupied for the last two nights.

Ex-Governor A. C. Hunt was in the city.

Barney Gilpin, president of the Cattle Growers association of this district, started for St. Louis to attend the convention of the National Cattle Growers association.

NOVEMBER 12, 1891.
 The Gazette stated that more houses were needed in Colorado Springs as the town was becoming overcrowded. Hotels, schools and churches were all full to overflowing.

The autumn convocation of the Push-to-deanery, composed of representatives of all the Episcopal churches in the southern half of Colorado, was in session here.

Dr. B. P. Anderson received a telegram from his wife who was in Ft. Worth, Texas, saying that the hotel in which she and the children were staying had burned down and that they were without money or clothing.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

An epidemic of foot and mouth disease is at present prevailing in southwestern Michigan and Indiana. As this is a dairy district, and as foot and mouth disease can be transmitted to the human subject by milk, butter, and cheese, the disease is of interest to the readers of this column.

Foot and mouth disease is a malady of cloven footed animals. It belongs in Europe. Rosenau tells us that it has invaded this country on five occasions prior to this. The last invasion prior to this was in 1893, at which time it caused great loss around Philadelphia and Detroit.

When the disease was discovered the bureau of animal industry took active charge of the invaded districts, and within a few weeks the disease was under control. Its complete suppression necessitated the killing of a large number of cows and was done at great expense.

In this epidemic the same bureau assumed charge as soon as the diagnosis was made and the situation is being handled in its usual masterly way. The disease will shortly be under control and before long it will be eradicated, but the expense to farmers and to governments will be great.

The cause of the disease is a microbe too small to be seen with any microscope. It passes through the pores of a porcelain filter, and therefore it is classified as a filterable virus. This was the first ultra-microscopic filterable virus to be discovered.

disease in animals is violent and often fatal. In the human subject it is mild. It occasionally produces death.

Children sick with foot and mouth disease have fever and vomiting; small blisters appear in the mouth; swallowing is difficult; sometimes slight blisters appear on the fingers.

Rosenau says: "Man is infected through the ingestion of raw milk, buttermilk, butter, cheese, and whey from animals suffering with foot and mouth disease. It is rare, though more rare, to be transmitted directly from the salivary secretions."

Rosenau also says that foot and mouth disease cannot be transmitted by vaccination or any other variety of skin wound.

The virus is easily killed by heat. Experiments made in Denmark and Germany have proved this. Milk pasteurized at 140 degrees for 20 minutes is safe.

There is no reason for alarm. So long as the disease continues all milk and milk products from the infected districts should be pasteurized. Any customer of milk who is not certain of his supply should home pasteurize. Physicians in the district of near it should inquire carefully into their cases of stomatitis.

WEAKNESS OF ELDERLY PEOPLE.
 S. writes: "A man 74 years of age always in perfect health until he became weak in his legs. He would like answers to the following questions:

1. Will his legs remain as they are or will they get worse?
 2. What can be done to improve them?

GAZETTE TO GIVE OPEN AIR CONCERT SATURDAY

Hanky Panky Company Will Sing and Dance in Front of Office at 1 P. M.; Chorus Girls to Sell Gallettes for the Dental Infirmary Fund

The Gazette will be host to Colorado Springs and the entire Pikes Peak region Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at a free open air concert to be given in front of the office of which gives Hanky Panky company, which gives matinee and night performances of the sparkling musical comedy Saturday afternoon and evening. Arrangements for the entertainment were completed yesterday.

The concert will be of 30 minutes duration and will include all the latest songs from Broadway, several of the new dances that are now the rage throughout the country, special acts by some of the stars of the company and a general good time. The full orchestra will have charge of music.

There will be no charge for the entertainment. Following the concert the girls of the chorus—and they say they are the best looking girls traveling with any company in the country today—will carry out what they consider an important part of the program. The girls will be given bundles of Saturday's Gazette and will become newswomen and sell the papers to the crowd. They have done this in several cities and it is said they can rival any newswoman in selling papers.

The papers are donated by The Gazette and the entire proceeds are going to be turned over to the fund for the dental infirmary for Colorado Springs school children. Although the first fund has been completed, it was found that owing to plans to install the infirmary in the High school additional money will be needed and The Gazette promised its support. The equipment for the infirmary now is being purchased and it will be open by December 1, probably.

CHARITIES PLANNING FOR THANKSGIVING

Springs Will Supply Dinners to Worthy Poor; Many Events Planned

Nearly 100 turkeys and chickens will be distributed to the worthy poor and sick of this city on Thanksgiving, two weeks from today, by the Associated Charities, according to the usual custom. The work of organization is going ahead rapidly. Lists will be prepared by the visiting nurse association, Salvation army, Free Employment office, schools and many other institutions. It is planned to investigate the cases and separate the worthy from those not entitled to assistance. Contributions are being solicited and the children will be urged to bring fruit and vegetables to their schools the day before distribution. Every worthy family will receive a dinner basket, containing a turkey or chicken with the necessary fixings. Families, consisting of two or under will be allowed a chicken all others getting turkeys.

Last year 88 baskets were provided by the association. 75 turkeys and 24 chickens being requisitioned. The day before Thanksgiving the baskets full of edibles are either called for by the families or sent by the association to their destinations. The fruit and vegetables are left at the schools by the children to be called for by the association.

Lucky Thirteen This Year.

The employees of the local office of the West-Fargo Express company will receive a turkey on Thanksgiving as the gift of the company. This custom has been observed by the express company since its foundation. There are 13 employees in this city, but despite the unlucky number they have all agreed to accept the turkey.

Thanksgiving day will be a gala time here for many of the societies and fraternal orders are planning to give various social entertainments and several of the hotels are preparing to do the same. Thanksgiving services will be held in the rural districts of Pikes county under the auspices of the Ministerial association. Sunday School association and agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce. County Agent W. H. Lund, who has been on an agricultural tour through Pikes county said yesterday that the farmers were taking a great deal of interest in the matter. Last year nearly 3,000 people attended these services and an even larger crowd is expected this year.

Junk Dealers Have Each Other Arrested; Police Enforcing Registration

A contest that, according to the police, might be termed 'The War of the Junk Dealers' is being waged in the police court before Magistrate Manning. The newest move of the various contestants occurred yesterday when Max Kase caused the arrest of Sam Duma Dave Wackno, A. Chayntin, Lewis Babin and Lazarus Talow. Junk dealers on charges of violating the junk ordinance.

Kase and Lewis Feldman were haled into police court Tuesday morning for the same offense and Kase was fined $750 and Feldman $1750. Kase claimed that Kase desired retribution and made complaint against five of his competitors who were released yesterday.

The charges placed against the junk dealers are brought about by their alleged failure to keep a record of all junk purchased. Under the ordinance, with the exception of rags and bottles, all junk must be recorded and the names of the persons from whom it is purchased.

NURSES IN THE WAR
What the Women Are Doing

The women of the warring nations are nursing, cheering and comforting the wounded or dying. The women of Europe not only wrap bandages and scrape lint, but they tend the farms, dig coal, carry burdens and do the work of the men now under arms. Every male fighter, however brave and heroic, was born of woman. The high courage and hardihood that are a nation's strength are inherited from its mother.

Young mothers who preserve the charms of face and figure in spite of an increasing family and the care of growing children are always to be envied. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives the strength and health upon which happy motherhood depends. It practically does away with the pains of maternity. It enables the mother to nourish the infant life depending on her and enjoy the hourly happiness of watching the development of a perfectly healthy child.

Thousands of women who are now blessed with robust health cannot understand why thousands of other women continue to worry and suffer from ailments peculiar to women when they can obtain for a trifling sum Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which will surely and quickly banish all pain, distress and misery and restore the woman's functions to perfect health.

IMPORTANT SPECIAL OFFER TO READERS OF THIS PAPER
Any person desiring a copy of The People's Common Sense Medical Advice before the edition is exhausted should send this notice together with 20 cents in stamps to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel, Littleton, N. M., and a copy will be sent to the person in charge prepaid.

CHANGING CREEK CHANNEL AND REPAIRING RIPRAPING

$1,500 Being Spent by Park Board to Prevent Washouts Along Monument Creek

Damage caused to the ripraping along Monument creek through Monument Valley park by the summer floods is being repaired by the park commission and it is expected that the work will be completed within the next six weeks.

If the present weather conditions prevail, the work will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000.

New ripraping is being put in and an effort is being made to change the channel of the stream in order that a repetition of the occurrences of the last few summers during heavy rains may not be repeated. A large force of men is at work on the repairs and the east bank between Platte and Boulder, which was washed out is being repaired.

Associated Charities Warns Against Fakers

Word has been received by the Associated Charities that there are two men in Colorado Springs seeking to obtain money under false pretenses. The public is warned not to pay any attention to their story until the association has investigated the matter. One man has been making a house-to-house canvass with three children, claiming that the agents of the association told him to take this method of getting financial assistance. The other tells much the same story and has been trying to sell cleaning and dyeing recipes in order to get enough money to take him to a sanatorium in his home state. It is thought that these men are working together.

These men did not come to us, and if they had we would never have advised them to take such methods of procuring assistance," said Agent W. F. Worcester, yesterday. "As far as we know, the story is absolutely false and we wish to warn the public against them."

TERRORS GO TO FORT COLLINS TOMORROW TO PLAY AGGIE FROSH

H. S. Eleven Has Developed Into Powerful Machine
and Should Win

The Terror squad of 14 players, manager and coach, will leave tomorrow for Fort Collins, where they meet the Aggie freshmen Saturday. This is the annual clash between the two elevens, and should prove to be one of the hardest games on Manager Peck's schedule. The Aggie team will be a hard nut to crack, having beaten some of the best delegations in the state in playing against the freshmen. The Terrors will meet some of the old team mates in Klemmerson and Snyder and a royal battle is predicted.

With the same form shown last Sunday against the Sacred Heart team, the Terrors should make the best of a showing against the Aggie freshmen, but will find that they are in face of a much harder proposition. The High school stars have shown up well this season, and Coach Cogdell has been working faithfully with his charges. Their daily practice has given them a good seasoning, and they are in fine physical shape.

A stiff defense and powerful offense have been developed, and with the same kind of line plunking and open plays used last Saturday, the Terrors have all kinds of chances to bring back the bacon. Captain Dolly Gray and Richardson should give a good account of themselves, while Clark is showing well at fullback. The line is developing into a stiff breaker, and shows signs of speed, with the ends light in comparison.

BOULDER DEPENDING ON SPEEDY RACKS TO DEFEAT ORF DIGGERS

Mines Has Smoother and Faster Machine; State
Coaches Fear Line

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 11.—The clouds in Boulder's football sky are all silver and gold as the student body gives them "The game in Denver Saturday with the Mines already won and added to the glorious feat of the Colorado team this season in the imagination of almost all of the undergraduates. But not so with the coaches. Those in the know of the team there is a dark blue that in some of the best players. The members of the state university team have not buried the Mines yet, not even in their imaginations.

There are various reasons why the Colorado coaches are not counting on such violent treatment as hitting and throwing the White and Blue team as the average student expects Boulder to do. They will count them over.

In the first place, they say that the Mines have a faster and smoother football machine than Colorado has ever faced this season. They have a splendid understanding and a thorough knowledge of the modern football game. They have the sense of a coach, he had all the time. They have a fast machine, and the speed of the game has been the best of any in the state.

The coaches declare that they are expecting the hardest game of the year from the Mines, and the one upon which will hinge the championship of the Rocky Mountain conference. Boulder will be ready for her.

Colorado has lost the strength of the Mines and the university will depend upon its own fast line. During the last few weeks, a philosophy has been placed on the offensive work that will be called upon to do and time has been given to strengthening the line.

time, something play after play into the hands of the freshmen who showed considerable fight themselves. Word from the Minister camp says that the Crimson and Gold squad is working at top speed, and that Coach Buckingham has something pretty cute up his sleeve for the battle. The Ministers, in all probability, will outweigh the Tigers and have a shiftier set of backs who are dangerous on end runs.

The advance side of tickets indicated that the game will be witnessed by a large crowd. The Tiger rosters are planning some special stunts for the afternoon. The game will start at 2 o'clock.

On Saturday, the Tigers will have a most emphatic answer to the Federal league, which was organized on a major league basis and will continue to be such, no matter what deal may be made with organized baseball, according to a statement tonight by President James A. Gilmore, who declared that all the owners of the league still stood together for a fair settlement. Gilmore declared that no member of the organization had any intention of selling to the detriment of the Federals. The statement said:

"The Federal league stands ready to do anything that will promote baseball interests in general. We realize that various such as has existed during the past year is detrimental to the interests of the game, and for that reason more than for any other they are willing to make a settlement on any honorable basis. If such a settlement is not consummated before the 1912 season it is not the fault of the Federal league officials."

We admit that in order to bring such a condition about it will be necessary to transfer certain franchises and a committee of Federal league officials is willing to meet a committee from organized baseball and endeavor to solve the problem.

There is a thorough understanding among all officers of the Federal league and there is no fear on the part of any of the clubs that one or more of them are going to consummate a deal that will protect their own interests irrespective of what happens to the others. Such reports do an injustice to such men as Messrs. Ward, Weeghman, Walker, Stille and Ball.

Cities like Baltimore, Buffalo and Indianapolis are entitled to major league baseball, and anyone who made a thorough study of the conditions existing in those cities before our invasion will readily understand why our league was locally supported in these towns. Competition is the life of trade, and the utter disregard that the minor league clubs have had for the general public in the three cities mentioned during the last 10 or 12 years was the real cause of the almost total lack of patronage in their parks during the last year.

I wish to state at this time in a most emphatic manner that the Federal league was organized on a major league basis and will continue as such. There will be no deal made with organized baseball which calls for the elimination of the Federal league. Our organization must consent to the transferring of one or two franchises, but the Federal league in name and standing must continue."

FEDS AND O. B. WILL BE AT PEACE WITHIN SHORT TIME--GILMORE

Herrmann Talked to Weeghman as Representative of Commission, He Says

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—In an interview here today President James A. Gilmore of the Federal league expressed the opinion that peace between the outlaw league and organized baseball was near at hand. He said he might be convinced that a conference tomorrow with the Chicago Federal league club would settle the matter. He said that he had been in communication with the Chicago National team, which will be represented by Charles H. Weeghman and his business associates, and that the club will play on the Federal league grounds, which will be enlarged and improved. Gilmore also said that the new recruits would be made up of the best players in the present National league team and that of the Federal league club.

Among other statements made by President Gilmore were:

"That no club would have more than two clubs next season under the reorganization."

"That the Federal league teams not absorbed by the major leagues in the reorganization would be incorporated into another league with perhaps a new name."

"That there would be no international league teams in Baltimore, Buffalo or Pittsburgh."

"That Garry Herrmann did not act as a private individual, but as a representative of the Cincinnati baseball club."

"That the American association and the international league will be given a higher classification under the new plan."

While President Gilmore declined to go into further details of the proposed peace plan it is said that it will provide for the merger of the Chicago, St. Louis and Brooklyn Federal league clubs with the National league teams in these cities and the organization of two substitute major leagues, one in the east and one in the central states, made up of the present American association and what is left of the Federal and International leagues.

The Federal league was organized on a major league basis and will continue to be such, no matter what deal may be made with organized baseball, according to a statement tonight by President James A. HORIZONTAL REDUCTION OF 20 PER CENT IN MINOR SALARY LIST IS RECOMMENDED

Time of 'Angels' Past; Must Let Gate Receipts
Govern Expenses, Says Garry Herrmann

OMAHA, Nov. 11.—A horizontal reduction of 20 per cent in the salary limit of minor league clubs was the recommendation of the committee on constitutional revision of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. It was adopted by a 10-4 vote. The committee also recommended that the owners of the minor leagues be permitted to increase their salaries as they saw fit, provided they were not in excess of the limit set by the committee. The committee also recommended that the owners of the minor leagues be permitted to increase their salaries as they saw fit, provided they were not in excess of the limit set by the committee.

The recommendation of the committee followed an address by President Garry Herrmann of the national commission, in which he declared that only a salary limit which would be kept in line with the gate receipts.

Chairman Herrmann reviewed last year's disastrous financial condition of the baseball business and declared that immediate and drastic action was necessary for the preservation of organized ball.

There must be a greater economy in the operation of the national sport, said Mr. Herrmann. There must be established a salary limit which will be in accord with the gate receipts. The time is past when "Angels" can be called upon to support the business. The smallest minor is entitled to the same protection that is accorded the greatest major league. The salary limit should be established not to fit the gate receipts of the biggest club in the league but rather gauged by the income of the smallest."

Chairman Herrmann told of his conference with Federal league officials and declared all his talks had been in an individual capacity and not as a representative either of the national commission or of the Cincinnati baseball club.

The schedule of salary limits was then presented by Judge Kavanaugh of Little Rock, chairman of the committee on constitutional revision. It recommended the following limits:

Class AA, $5,000 per month. Class A, $3,000 per month. Class B, $2,000 per month. Class C, $1,500 per month. Class D, $1,000 per month. These limitations were put on the number of players.

Because the Federal league had 12 clubs in two American association (B) representatives of the league, they did not to their salary limit being made public, and that owners were permitted to agree on what the limit should be.

Announced discussion over the limits of Class C and D resulted in their being going over until tomorrow. Several representatives of these small minors declared they would be unable to exist with the proposed limitation on them, especially as it had to do with salaries. Classes A and B made no protest and the limitations were accepted.

An amendment was proposed to be at least one executive session at each annual meeting of the association. This provision was adopted. It was stated, to provide an opportunity for league officials and club owners to throw out their grievances without the details being made public.

There was considerable action taken outside the convention of what was expected to result from further conferences between members of the national commission and officials of the Federal league. It seemed to be the impression that some change would be made in the personnel of the American association and the Western league, although no definite action was taken by the association itself.

formally complained that Post-General Burleson, Secretary

the treasury were enforcing segregatheir offices. Mr. Wilson listened to the statement and then replied at length, explaining that he had investigated this matter himself, and had been assured that no discrimination had been pracsegregation had been inaugurated to avoid friction between the races, not to injure the negroes. He added that he was deeply interested in the negro race and admitted it for the progress it had made.

President Insulted.

At this point Trotter and other members of the delegation took issue with the president. They declared the negro people did not seek charity or assistance, but took the position that they had equal rights with the whites and that these rights should be recognized. There had been no friction, insisted, before the segregation started.

THANKS THOSE WHO HELPED

The committee made by Colorado omitted. These were Mrs. Aldrich, 55 managers; Section 1 and 4 of the First Christian church, the "Willing Twenty"

of the First Congregational church, the Westminster guild, and St. Andrews guild of Manitou. Many articles were contributed by the women, but it was impossible to keep an accurate record.
Those in charge of the campaign have issued a statement thinking Colorado

WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS SAY

THE LIBERTY WRITES

At the Empress today the special Klaw and Erlanger comedy success in three reels will be the stellar attraction. The story:

Margery Pennyfeather and Jack
Everleigh, Dorothy Ketcham and Phil Fuller are sweethearts and chums. Margery's father, Jasper Pennyfeather, is trying to build a hydroaeroplane. Captain Ketcham, Dorothy's father, is preparing to sail to a desert island in a treasure. The Pennyfeathers and Ketchams are neighbors and the fathers do not object to the boys Jack and Phil. Jack and Phil are preparing to leave for college but before going plot to get the girls into a boarding school in the neighborhood of the college. The boys write letters to Mrs.
Sprout, the principal of the school, for prices and particulars, to which they sign the names of Jasper Pennyfeather and Captain Ketcham.

Upon receiving the information the fathers decide to send their daughters to Mrs. Sprout's school. The boys, upon learning that the girls have reached the school, make an effort to see them. They are discovered under the window, cutting the girls and are chased away. The fathers of the girls have both fallen in love with Mrs.
Sprout and are striving hard to win
her affections. The girls of the school are taken by the swimming teacher to the beach, but Margery and Dorothy were left behind. The boys secure bathing suits and with the two girls go to another part of the beach. Mrs.
Sprout discovers the happy quartet and proceeds to drag the girls from the water. They are taken back to school and punished by being deprived of their dinner. The girls throw a note out of the window to the boys telling them they are hungry. The boys are quick to respond and soon return with refreshments, which they hold up to the window.

That night the boys of the dormitory plan a secret feast. The boys scheme to play a joke on the girls and disguise as burglars in order to gain admittance to the feast. They climb the side of the house and crawl in through the window. Seeing the two supposed burglars, the girls are thrown into a panic. The boys are recognized, however, and given a hearty welcome.
They are teaching the girls to dance and Mrs. Sprout, disturbed by the loud laughter and shuffle of feet, suspects something is wrong and arouses
the janitor, who in turn gets the town constable and all three go to the dormitory to arrest the boys.

The boys resume the role of burglars to avoid compromising the girls and are arrested and taken to the town lockup. The girls now feel sorry for their escapade and plan to get the boys out of jail. By fondling the jailer they manage to steal his keys. They free the boys and the four young people decide to avoid further trouble, no proceed to get married. Not having any means of support they start a cooking school.

Captain Ketcham finds the supposed treasure and also finds a shipwrecked sailor, who later turns out to be the husband of Mrs. Sprout. The captain sails for home, taking with him the shipwrecked sailor. Jasper Pennyfeath-er has built his large flying machine and has been flying on it for weeks.
Mrs. Sprout has discovered that the girls have eloped and are married.
She immediately sends a note to Mr.
Pennyfeather, telling him his daughter has eloped and is married. He hurries to the school and there meets Captain Ketcham, who has arrived with his chest containing the supposed treasure. Jasper Pennyfeather is very much disturbed on finding Captain Ketcham calling on Mrs. Sprout. In order to decide who shall exhibit his wealth first, they toss a coin. Jasper Pennyfeath-er wins and invites the party to see his flying machine. The flying boat is a failure and all on board are ducked.
They all return to the school and the captain exhibits his treasure. The captain, which, upon being opened, is found to have been a box and contains nothing. Mrs. Sprout recognizes her husband and takes him back.
The young people are very prosperous by this time and take their fathers in and put them to work.

There will be two other picture plays we know you will like. Don't miss the big three-reel comedy "Liberty Belles."
"MARCUS LOEW VAUDEVILLE"

The best vaudeville show that has ever been seen in Colorado Springs is the phrase this week heard all over Colorado Springs. It is to be remembered that this week's bill is one of the famous road shows now operating on the Loew circuit. Eva Prout, offering some very popular songs, jokes and impersonations, makes a decided hit with every one who has seen her.
Laypo and Benjamin, comedy acrobats, are certainly one of the finest acts in vaudeville. Irwin and Herzog, refined vocalists, render some very good songs and up-to-date singing, including the fifty thousand-dollar song entitled
"Last Night Was the End of the World." Senator Francis Murphy, with his German dialect is a very good and rare treat to the vaudeville lovers of Colorado Springs; last but not least Dora Deane's "Fancy Fancies" present a big singing and dancing act which is considered a rag time riot. This bill will, along with three first-run photoplays, including the latest Pathé Daily News, rounds out one of the best shows ever seen in Colorado Springs. Three shows daily, matinee at 2:30, evening, 7:15 and 9:15. Seats now on sale.

MARY ROBSON

The Academic Producing company will present Mrs. Robson in her latest comedy success, "Martha By-the-Day," at the Opera house next Monday and Tuesday. This production is one that has been highly anticipated with the keenest of interest. The comedy has been made from the very human and enjoyable book, which has been presented in the group of "best sellers" ever since its publication a year ago. All who have laughed at and sympathized with Martha Lawson, its heroine, are anxious to see her in the flesh and blood. To prepare the comedy for Mrs. Robson, Julia M. Thompson, the author of the story, turned playwright, and it is said to have succeeded splendidly in capturing the delicious humor and "sentiment of the book into theatrical entertainment matter. The comedy is well supplied with bright lines, amusing situations, and that wholesome sweetness that is so general in its appeal. In addition to the comic possibilities of the play, a charming love story is disclosed in the unfolding of the plot. Martha is proving a most congenial role for Miss Robson, whose stage career has been so brilliantly punctuated by triumphant portrayals of eccentric types of women. Her delighful impersonation in the present instance promises to make the character a figure of some permanency on our stage. In the company that has been assembled for Miss Robson's support are the following clever players: Jane Heron, Langdon Gillet, Emily Lorraine,

Henrietta McDaniel, Edwin Brendt, Coates Gwynne, Mary Mersch, Roy
Ardmore, Elizabeth Warren and others.

"HANKY PANKY"
A conspicuous and most interesting engagement will be that of Lee Fields, attest "Hanky Panky" at the Opera house. This company will be seen presented "Hanky Panky," exactly as given for 200 nights in Chicago, 100 nights in Boston and 200 nights at the Broadway theater, New York. This merry-musical entertainment enjoyed a record in New York city seldom if ever equaled by any production of its character, as is evidenced by the fact that in 24 weeks it played to capacity patronage of the Broadway theater, one of the largest in New York. Edgar Smith, E. Ray Goetz and A. Baldwin Sloane wrote the books, lyrics and music, the same wonderful successful trio who wrote "The Midnight Sons,"

"Jolly Bachelor," "Tillie's Nightmare,"
etc. "Hanky Panky" is a riot of color, tunefulness and scenic effects, and besides the famous principals, there are 50 girls who have become known to Broadway as "Siren's beauties" and who have been with the show ever since its opening night in Chicago three years ago. A unique feature of the show is its almost continuous run, the principals and chorus having had only three weeks' vacation in three years. It ran one summer at the Broadway theater in New York and spent another summer going to the Pacific coast with a long run in San Francisco, so that it has continued almost without interruption. Among the principals are Virginia Evans, the beautiful young prima donna who was acclaimed in Broadway and has been with "Hanky Panky"
ever since, and is still playing the principal role of Cleopatra.

FATHER MALONE ON 17th

WAR IN EUROPE

Rev. Father T. H. Malone will deliver his famous lecture, "The War as I Saw It," at the Burns theater Thursday night. The sale of tickets opened this morning at the theater and it is expected that he will be greeted by a crowded house.

Father Malone has just returned from Europe, where he visited the famous battlefields. This lecture was delivered in New York and created such a good impression that he is going to return
there in December to repeat it.

The Broadway theater in Denver was crowded to the doors an hour before his lecture commenced. The people of Colorado Springs are going to have an opportunity to enjoy it, though an explanation of the war, its cause and effect on future and present civilization.

"CABIRIA"

It is stated that Gabriele D'Annunzio,
the foremost Italian poet and dramatist,
in writing the scenario for his masterful photo spectacle "Cabiria," which will be presented at the Opera house commencing November 18, in this city, commenced his first and only motion picture spectacle. This information comes from Carlo Belandieri, head of the Italia company of Turin, who made this film.

Sig. Belandieri says that after the initial presentation of "Cabiria" at the Grand Opera house in Rome, D'Annunzio was overwhelmed with offers from nearly every European producer to write for them at his own terms, but he declined every offer, saying he had tried to create a new standard in "Cabiria," that he had devoted two years of his time to its production, traveling to Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Egypt and his own country for results, and that he would now go to his villa at Alessandria, outside of Genoa, to quiet his rest and finish two new plays he is writing for Rejane and Bernhardt.

Coughs scare you. The loud, hoarse croupy cough, choking and gasping for breath, labored breathing, call for immediate relief. The very first doses thick mucus, clears away the phlegm
